There are progressive Republicans and progressive Democrats, but their pupose is the same the interest of the masses against the interest of the plutocracy. The latter still holds the fort, but it is being sapped at two approaches.

As was to have been expected. the Missouri Democracy is having a fight over who is to have the handling of the 82,500,000 capitol bailding fund, for where the pickings are promising so good the buzzards of graft are numerous, and the squabble ox er the feast greedy.

The Missouri posimasters who were gathered together in St. Louis last week were offering Governor Hadley as a running mate for President Taft next year. The P. M.'s, while they are all for Taft, thus make the admission delicately that they feel he will need a good pace

A beautiful memorial tower to cost more than $100,000 is soon respect for his party and a whole to be erected at Princeton, N. J. to the memory of the late Grover Cleveland. It is to be 170 feet high. There was a time while Cleveland lived when his whilom political friends wanted to sink his memory that deep. Time works wonders in changing the thoughts of men.

Hon. B. B. Cahoon of Freder icktowe, Mo., whom most of our readers know as a Republican of the stalwart type, has joined oppenly in the protest against inflicting the party with Mr. Taft any longer. Like ourselves, he recognizes the truth of the fact that Taft can only run the party into defeat. The anti Taft senti ment is spreading in Missouri.

We are for Senator LaFollette because we love a tighter who fights for the people. He made a record as governor of Wisconsin as the successful champion of the people against the predatory corporations that by an almost unanimous vote he was sent to the senate to fight there for the same cause. We want that kind of a fighter in the presidential chair for eight years to finish up a job that Roosevelt started.

The ruling class in Russia would rather take an occasional loss through assassination than grant the people of that unhappy country a modicum of political liberty. To give up power to rule would mean to the aristo cracy of Russia abandonment of the right to rob the masses there of everything but bare subsistence. It is a testimonial to the tolerant nature of the Russian people that these assasinations are not more frequent.

Y., one day receptly a racing machine suddenly left the track and plowed its way throug a dense crowd of onlockers, with the result that nine persons were killed outright and two more have since died from their injuries. This is only one of the many frightful accidents that have almost invariably attended such exhibitions. If there is any real utility in the endeavor of the auto speedists to reach the ultimate speed capacity of their machines, they should be compelled by law to make those tests in private where they will risk no lives but their own. The taking away of the savor of showing off before the public, would undoubtedly quickly put the professional an to racer out of business.

It is evident from the tone of President Taft's speeches as he is delivering them on his present swing around the circle, that he intends to stand or fall by the record of his administration. That neither the criticism of the Progressive Republican opposi tion nor the political history of the past two years (burdened as that record and history is with distressing departmental scandals and Republican calamities at the polls) will deter him from forcing himself upon the party for renomination. We don't know whether to call this course on his part the inspiration of egotistical self-conceit or the reckless spirit of deviltry to drive his party upon the rocks of ruin when be can no longer rule it Surely, had he a conscientions some concern in its future welfare, he would considerately step aside, waive the custom that calls for a second term and let the party have a free hand to nomi nate a man who has not already been repudiated. The temper of the people on the policy of his administration was manifested at the polls a year ago and recorded in the loss of support in both houses of congress. What further evidence does he want of the fact that he no longer holds the confidence of the people? How could it serve the party any more than to merely save its face to endorse Mr. Taft for a second term? If it is written that the Republican party must go down to defeat in 1912 regardless of who may lead it, its face should at least show the self-respecting marks of a good

The prevalence of typhoid and tricts can be charged to a lack of knowledge of proper sanitation, or to neglect to apply it Stagnant pools of water, foul barnyards, dirty drains and unprotected outhouses, and other disease-breeding nuisances are permitted to exist on many farms and are responsible for much sickness and loss of life.

The farmhouse should be lo cated at a safe distance from the barnyard and outhouses and should be carefully screened, as a good portion of the illness referred to the result of the contamination of the drinking water by seepage, and of milk and food by flies and other disease car rying insects which breed and thrive in filth.

old phenomenon-as old indeed as man himself-but now more evident because there are more people. It is less in rural districts, though still cities are modern affairs and that is why their phenomena are being discovered but the accounts of London some centuries ago showed a deplorable number of defectives, probably far greater in proportion than in New York now. Though it is appalling that there should be nearly a quarter million diseased school children, yet the defects are of minor things, while formerly they were severe. The seat of most of the trouble is said to be malnutrition, but it is not nearly so bad as in European cities of the last century. That is, the new facts must not cause undue pessimism, but rather the reverse, for they show that though there is an immense preventive work ahead of us, the progress made in a century or even a half century has been enormous. Optimism is in place, even if we are sure that perfection is unattainable. Moreover our preventive work is rapidly becom ing more and more efficient now that we are learning the exact conditions and their causes.—American Medi
